Speaking of great graphics . . .

the best screenprinter can only make a great print of the graphic he has to work with. If the art looks amateurish, you'll have a great print job of amateur art. Needless to say, most people want a great print of a graphic that looks professionally done, and this can involve as little as a few moments spent resetting text and adding a little typographic flair, adding clip art in a more interesting layout, or as complex as a photographic image on dark shirts. We build a little time into all of our work to allow for some image cleanup and text revision to improve readability and style, but should you have difficulty finding the image you want, we'd be happy to develop a design to meet your needs that will stand out. Art services do involve additional expense, but you will be given a price before any work commences, should you desire to take advantage of our art services.

How are our shirts are printed? We only offer screenprinted sportswear using industrial textile inks on name-brand mill items. We do not do transfers from inkjet printers.

As an additional benefit to our customers in service industries, such as painters, landscapers, and contractors, we also offer screenprinted yard signs and vehicle lettering to help establish a positive business identity in the marketplace.

Who needs them? Construction companies, daycare centers, landscaping contractors, plumbers, electricians, air conditioning and heating technicians, automobile and motorcycle mechanics, bars and restaurants, tourist attractions and entertainment venues, public and private schools, motorcycle, car, and bicycle clubs, and non-profit organizations purchase imprinted shirts as identification and for special events such as company picnics and parties, fundraisers, or sponsorship of charitable events.

The next time you need shirts for any event, club or business use, give us a call for a quote. If you've never ordered screenprinted shirts before, we'd be happy to explain all of the variables to get you a product that's priced right for your budget, and with a look that you'll be proud to wear.

Custom printed sportswear is often used as an inexpensive method of creating a company image that adds a look of professionalism to employees' appearance, and to the organization in the eyes of the public. A custom printed shirt with a great graphic also makes an excellent, inexpensive giveaway or gift to customers or prospects that is perceived as a high-value item. The proliferation of imprinted t-shirts as fashion over the last 3 decades has also established an outlet for graphics that aren't used as corporate identity or event promotion, but as art itself, opening up opportunities for retailing shirts strictly as fashion.

We offer these as well as other quality, well-known brands . . .
